

Core Principles Text Lore Item

By Sean Mittal

Collapsed Mine causes Kondor Co. to go out of business

A combined task force of Law Enforcement and Military Investigators of Deilvar are still performing an investigation of the collapse of the Kondor Industries owned and operated mine located in the southwestern most corner province of the nation. It is unknown what the true cause was that caused the mine to collapse, but many agents of said task force believe that sabotage must've been the cause of the mine's collapse. Already, agents are rounding up individuals who agents claim that these specific miners were the ones responsible for the mine's collapse. However, the workers claim that the reason that the mine collapsed like it did was due to a combination of both poor quality materials that they were given to work with and faulty construction. At this time, the exact cause remains unknown, but agents charged with the task speculate that sabotage remains the number one cause in the minds of the agents involved with the case, potentially by a rival company or a worker from within.

The mining company, Kondor Industries, is a company in the mining industry that unearths, refines, and sells precious metals and minerals for the purpose of providing the nation of Deilvar with armaments as well as architecture and construction of buildings and structures for a variety of purposes. In the past, many workers complained that the CEO of Kondor Industries, Mr.Kondor, is responsible for the neglect of the working conditions of workers in the mine, stating that such poor conditions include weak/unstable construction foundation for the mine where they work, and in addition, they claimed that the company compensates them poorly for their work in such terrible conditions. Many of the workers claim that Mr.Kondor has very little interest in protecting and compensating it's workers.

Following the collapse of the Kondor Industries mine, the company was unable to gain any further income and soon the size of Kondor Industries shrunk to the size of a single office building. Many office employees state that if things don't improve in some way, the company may collapse all together and go out of business. This worries many employees, who state that their livelihood depends on their job and keeping said job.

In a recent interview on the matter, Mr.Kondor had this to state: "I'm truly sorry to all the workers who feel if I betrayed them and neglected them, I never meant to cause them such problems. I understand that in the collapse of the mine, an employee broke his leg and is still in rehabilitation from it being broken. I want all the workers to know that no matter what happens, that even if Kondor Industries goes out of business, I will not be letting you go hungry until you find another job. Should the worst case scenario come to pass, all employees will be getting a generous severance package as compensation for the harsh,neglectful conditions they had to go through during their time with the company".

No one truly knows what awaits the future for Kondor industries, though despite support being given to the company by the very government of Deilvar, it's apparent that there will be rough time ahead for Kondor Industries and the very nation that depends on it.